

NATIONAL WORK ZONE MEMORIAL

Respect and Remembrance: Reflections of Life on the Road

Over the years, thousands of men and women have died in work zones, including workers, motorists, pedestrians, law enforcement officers, public safety officials and children.

Unveiled in 2002 and redesigned in 2017, the National Work Zone Memorial pays homage to the memory of these lost lives by displaying their names on a traveling tribute to continuously honor them. The virtual Memorial debuted in 2020.
